

REGULATION OF BUSSES FIRST BILL FOR VOTE

Child Labor Question Goes To Committee Wed- nesday P. M.

Columbus, O., Jan. 14.—The first measure to go before the senate on the question of passage is the Collister bill conferring upon city authorities the power now vested in the state utilities commission to regulate operation of motor bus transportation for hire wholly within a city's limits.

By a vote of 4 to 3, the senate automotive committee recommended passage of the Collister bill.

The child labor question is scheduled to come up in the senate this afternoon when Lieutenant Governor Lewis, as presiding officer of the upper legislative branch, is expected to refer to committee the joint resolution by Senator Waitt, Cuyahoga, providing for ratification of the proposed child labor amendment. At the public hearing in the house chamber late Tuesday relative to this proposal, Dean Vivian, college of agriculture, Ohio State University, speaking against it, predicted its defeat, 3 to 1, if referred to a general vote of the people of Ohio.

Asserting there has been "too much invasion of homes," he warned against the possibility that "our homes will be nationalized unless the proposed child labor amendment and similar proposals are defeated."

J. H. Frey, Cincinnati, president of the Ohio Federation of Labor, declaring labor in factories is different than that on the farm, urged protection of children against the "blight of industry."

Chester A. Dyer, Columbus, legislative agent for the Ohio Grange and Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, read letters from President L. J. Tabor, Barnesville, president of the Grange, and from J. H. Newmeyer, Jackson, chairman of the Ohio Bankers Association's agricultural committee opposing the proposed amendment.

The public hearing in the house is scheduled to be continued today.

PASTOR HOPES FOR STRONG RACE FROM CHAOS OF PRESENT

A hope that a stronger country and race of people in America would be the outgrowth of the present lack of adjustment, was expressed by the Rev. J. B. Showers, professor at Bonebrake Seminary, Dayton, in an address before the Xenia Rotary Club, at the Elks' Club, Tuesday noon.

The Rev. Mr. Showers took as his theme President Calvin Coolidge's declaration that the present day need is for the people of America to rededicate themselves to God and to America.

He spoke of the strong influence of the Puritan forefathers, up to the present and declared the country and its people will grow strong in the face of opposition.

He held no fears for the influence of the crime waves and criticism sweeping over the country and declared renewed strength of America would be the result.

Plans for the Ki-Ro meeting, a week from Thursday night, in connection with Thrift Week, at which James A. Devine, Columbus, secretary of the Ohio Building and Loan Association, will be the speaker, were discussed at the meeting.

TO SMASH PLANES IN TEST TO DETERMINE ACCIDENT CAUSES

Four spectacular airplane crashes in the form of tests will take place at Wilbur Field some time this week, according to an announcement of McCook Field officials.

Planes are being made to continue to have the crashes correspond in every possible way with the fatality that might accompany each.

The test crashes are the first of their kind ever tried in the country as far as is known and it is hoped through these experiments to discover the cause wherein death occurs to the pilot and to guard against them. Another purpose is to determine what methods can be best employed in preventing a plane from catching fire when it crashes.

Four old planes equipped with four old motors are to be used in the test crashes.

The planes will speed down a 100 yard skidway and during the last few yards, when they will have attained their greatest speed, they will smash into a concrete wall.

Moving pictures will be made of each crash and a close examination of the actual results can thus be made.

KANSAS SOLONS NOT TO PROBE PARDONS

Topeka, Kan. Jan. 14.—There will be no legislative probe of the pardon situation in the administration of Governor Jonathan M. Davis, it was intimated by C. R. Hope, new speaker of the house.

James Finley, personal attorney of Governor Ben S. Paulen, and head of the joint investigating committee of the last legislature will hand in his committee report when the session reconvenes tomorrow and the committee will be discharged, Hope said.

AMERICAN POLICY TOWARD RUSSIA TO SOFTEN GRADUALLY

Recognition Is Already Sought By Soviet Republic

London, Jan. 14.—Diplomatic machinery already has been set in motion with a view to gaining recognition for the soviet republic by the United States, it was said in anti-soviet circles here today.

Christian Rakovsky, London representative of the soviet trade delegation was said to be enroute to Moscow where he hoped to be empowered to enter into negotiations with U. S. Ambassador Kellogg on the subject of recognition for Russia.

Washington, Jan. 14.—A gradual softening of American policy toward Russia, rather than any quick, precipitate leap into recognition and renewed governmental relations is expected here to follow the retirement of Charles E. Hughes, as secretary of state.

White House denials that there will be any marked changes in the foreign policies of the administration after Frank B. Kellogg succeeds Secretary Hughes are taken with a grain of salt. Between foreign office such denials are usually characteristic as "diplomatic denials."

Circumstances have combined since congress assembled in Washington six weeks ago to remove some of the bitterest opponents of any trafficking with soviet Russia. One was the death of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor. Another was the elevation of Senator William E. Borah to the chairmanship of the senate foreign relations committee. A third came now in the resignation of Hughes.

Although they had little else in common, Hughes and Gompers saw eye to eye regarding Russia and some quarters their combined opposition is credited with forestalling any moves toward restored relations.

DR. G. H. BIRNEY TO CONDUCT SPECIAL SERVICES IN XENIA

Special preparations are being made by the pastors of the two Xenia Methodist Episcopal Churches, Dr. V. F. Brown and Dr. F. W. Stanton, for the coming of Dr. George Hugh Birney, evangelist of Cleveland, to hold evangelistic meetings here.

Dr. Birney will begin his work in Xenia, January 25 at 10:30 A. M. and will continue until February 8. Meetings will be held afternoons and evenings. All the services will be conducted in the First M. E. Church on West Second Street.

Dr. Birney is one of the outstanding evangelists of the Methodist Church and has held meetings in some of the largest churches of the country. He is endorsed by Bishops and pastors of different denominations.

Dr. W. W. Bustard, noted Baptist pastor of Cleveland, says of him, "Dr. Birney is a great favorite of my people. He is a Spirit-filled man. There is no job too big for him. I am glad to commend him to my brethren."

Bishop W. F. Anderson, says "I commend him without reservation as a leader in evangelistic campaigns."

MARINES STILL AID IN CHINESE WAR

Shanghai, Jan. 14.—American marines, landed from destroyers, were assisting Chinese troops of the Peking government who are still held in internment camps. The foreign consuls reached a decision not to deliver the prisoners to either of the warring factions and favored sending them home on foreign ships. Funds, however, are not available for this.

TO BUILD RAIL LINE

Washington, Jan. 14.—The interstate commerce commission today authorized the Morgantown and Wheeling Railroad to construct a new line from Waynesboro, Pa., to Blacksburg, Va., or to acquire the property of the Monongahela and Ohio railroad.

Believe Ship Will Be Salvaged—Crew Comfortable Although Bad Weather Makes Situation Precarious.

Boston, Jan. 14.—"The wrecking steamer Resolute, from New York, is expected to reach the submarine S-19 any minute and it is only a question of time when we will have her off the sand bar," Commander Poter, of the Charlestown navy yard said today.

The Resolute, according to Commander Poter is equipped with wrecking machinery which practically assures the salvaging of the submarine.

"The submarine reported today that all on board were comfortable and in no immediate danger," the commander said. "The weather is a bit rough but the vessel is thus far weathering it satisfactorily."

Chatham, Mass., Jan. 14.—The position of the United States submarine S-19, which grounded on a sandbar off Nauset Beach, has become precarious, according to naval officers, who today viewed with alarm the rapidly falling barometer. At two a. m. the big submarine was resting easily, a comparatively smooth sea running. The wind was scarcely thirty miles velocity but within the next four hours the glass fell precipitately and at six o'clock a 45 mile wind from the north west had whipped up. The crew was still on board this morning.

Messages from the coast guard cutters Tampa and Acushnet, which stood by the crippled submersible throughout the night, stated it would be extremely hazardous to attempt to communicate with the S-19 under existing conditions. The crew of the submarine refused to leave their craft when reached by a coast guard boat last night. At that time the submarine was favored by a calm sea, but this morning with the weather again heavy, in such a manner that fear was expressed that she would open her plates and let in the sea. If water should reach the battery room the crew of 28 officers and men aboard would be in immediate danger of death from the chlorine gas that would be generated.

Captain Abbot H. Walker of the Nauset coast guard station, the sixty year old skipper of the surf boat, which visited the S-19, said he found the crew in good spirits, with plenty of food. Captain Walker was also in command of the life boat which was capsized yesterday while attempting to reach the stranded submarine. The crew that went with him was picked from the Nauset and Capoon Hollow life saving stations.

CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH WHEN FIRE DESTROYS DWELLING

Father Blocked From Rescue, Saves Life By Jumping

Canton, O., Jan. 14.—Helen, 11, and Leonard, 4, children of Newton Spriggle, who with their father have been making their home with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spriggle since the death of their mother, two years ago, were burned to death early this morning when fire completely destroyed the house.

The children and their father were asleep on the second floor at the time the fire was discovered by a neighbor E. Phillips, who assisted Mrs. Frank Spriggle and her aged father, Jonathan Spriggle, from the house.

Frank Spriggle, father of the children, was compelled to jump from a second story window to save his life. He tried to get the children out, but they slept in another room somewhat removed from his, on the second floor and he was cut off from making the rescue by smoke and flames.

OLD DWELLING IS SOLD; TO BE RAZED

One of the oldest landmarks of the city will be changed as the result of the sale of two lots on Locust Street, by W. E. Fletcher to G. M. Stiles.

The lots adjoin the Stiles residence and an old brick house, one of the oldest structures in the city, is built on the land. The property is in the Allen and Wright addition and the brick house was constructed about 100 years ago. The structure will be torn down to give place to residences to be constructed by Mr. Stiles.

ANOTHER RESCUE PARTY FORMED TO BRING FROM MOUNTAIN BODY OF GIRL LOST IN CLIMB

Denver, Colo., Jan. 14.—Another rescue party was formed at Estes Park today to make a third attempt to bring down from the storm swept summit of Long's peak, the frozen body of Miss Agnes Vaille, Smith College graduate and well known Colorado mountain climber who was overcome by Arctic temperatures and fierce winds, and frozen to death after she had scaled the great height late Monday.

All hope of finding alive Herbert Sortland, member of a rescue party who became lost in a raging gale has been virtually abandoned. Belief was expressed that Sortland's body had been covered under the huge snow drifts that have been piled several feet deep, following the heavy snowfall of the last 48 hours.

Walter Keiser, Alpine mountain climber and companion of Miss Vaille on her fatal trip, related a thrilling tale today of his fight in the storm with the temperature ranging down to 50 degrees below zero to seek aid for Miss Vaille after her feet had been frozen and exhaustion prevented her from descending the mountain after reaching the top.

DAYTON ATTORNEY PLEADS FOR BISHOP IN HERESY HEARING

Cleveland, O., Jan. 14.—Charles L. Dibble, church advocate, of Kalamazoo, Michigan, was to present arguments today to the board of eight bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church, sitting as a court of review, why the finding of the trial court last May that Bishop William Montgomery Brown, retired bishop of Arkansas, was a heretic, had been confirmed.

It was expected that the arguments would continue until tomorrow. Yesterday was taken up with argument of Joseph Sharts of Dayton, chief counsel for the accused bishop, who contended that teachings of Bishop Brown in his book "Christianism and Communism" had been torn from their context to make a prime facie case of heresy against his client.

To accept the Nicene creed adopted 325 A. D.—1600 years ago—as a standard by which the modern church or churchman is to be judged, is treason to the human intellect and the treason to the human soul," Sharts declared during more than five hours of impassioned oratory.

"The man to whom more than any other we owe this creed was the Roman emperor, Constantine," Sharts continued, "who waded through human blood to a throne; who strangled his own son, his wife, and his nieces. It was adopted during the dark ages. Art and literature had perished. The ministers of religion were quarreling at the very doors of their churches. The soil was red with the blood of countless thousands of heretics done to death."

UNITED STATES PARTNER WITH ALLIES IN PLAN

Kellogg Confers With Herriot On French Debt Question

New Secretary of State Says Conference Opens New Era

Paris, Jan. 14.—The financial conference agreement, making the United States a partner with the allies in the profits and responsibilities of enforcement of the Dawes plan was signed at 10:40 a. m. today. Ambassadors Herriot and Kellogg, the latter the secretary of state designate and Col. Logan signed for the United States.

At the last minute the clause in section A, reading: "In an amount not exceeding $350,000,000," referring to the total the United States will receive in satisfaction of its claims against Germany, was stricken out.

After the ceremony of signing had been concluded, Premier Herriot addressed the conference, then Ambassador Kellogg and the French premier went into a long conference.

Franco-American relations, including the moot question of the French war debt, were considered by the premier and the next secretary of state.

"There have been three great events of recent years," Ambassador Kellogg told the conference. "The first was the Dawes report; the second, the London conference, and the third, the present Paris agreement. It will mark the beginning of a new era for Europe which will have a reflex action on all the nations of the world."

"I affirm my confidence in the Dawes plan," Ambassador Kellogg continued. "It is based on solid business principles. I assure you the American people are keenly interested in its success."

As the protocol defining America's share in the proceeds of the Dawes plan, left the hands of the experts committee late last night, it provided the following payments in settlement of costs of the American army of occupation and awards of mixed claims commission.

First—Fifty five million gold marks or $13,750,000 annually until the costs of the American army of occupation ($240,000,000) shall have been paid. These payments will be a first charge on the cash available under the Dawes plan after the charges of the German external loan of 1924 and the costs of the reparations commission; the inter-allied Rhineland high commission; the military control commission and the Danube commission have been deducted.

Second—Two and a quarter per cent of all the receipts from Germany, via the Dawes plan in settlement of claims for war damage.

The United States agrees to waive its claims under the army costs Wads-worth agreement. If the total sum paid in any year under the first clause falls below $55,000,000 gold marks the balance will be carried over to the following year, with interest at 4 1/2 per cent.

The provisions for distribution of annuities received under the Dawes plan may not be altered without the United States consent.

The United States is recognized as having a 2 1/4 interest in that part of the annuities which may be distributed in the issuance of railway or other bonds under the experts plan or in the sale of such bonds.

AUTO DAMAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McGuinn of Bowersville, escaped injury in an automobile wreck on the Washington C. & P. Pike Sunday night. The McGuinn machine was badly damaged in the head-on crash with another car driven by a Columbus party.

McGuinn has instituted suit for damages against the Columbus man. It is said that when officers searched for them after the accident, the Columbus people could not be found.

DOG LICENSE SALE IS BELOW NORMAL

Sale of dog licenses at the County Auditor's office is proceeding smoothly, but the total sold by Tuesday was four hundred less than at the same time last year.

Nearly 1,400 dogs of the total canine population of the city have been already licensed and a rush is predicted during the last few days that will increase the number to nearly 3,300 the number sold in 1924.

January 20 is the dead line with no time extension, and authorities expect to round up the delinquents after that date.

Licenses for male dogs may be purchased for $1 while female dog licenses come $2 higher.

Women Urging New Movie Standards.

Mrs. A. H. Reeve, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, presided over the conference of that organization in Philadelphia. The congress drew a new questionnaire that is planned to guide women in drawing a standard to be maintained by motion picture producers. At the same time, plans were made for the national conference of the congress, which will be held in Austin, Tex., late in April.

RECALL GRAND JURY TO CONSIDER CASE OF WIFE MURDERER

Improvement In Condition Of Forest Kennedy Prompts Action

The Grand Jury was recalled Wednesday by Prosecuting Attorney J. Carl Marshall to conduct an investigation in the case of Forest Kennedy, Cedarville, wife-slayer, and will convene in Common Pleas Court Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

The initial move by the prosecutor to bring Kennedy to justice is thought to be convincing proof that Kennedy will live to face a murder charge instead of dying from his self-inflicted wound as was first thought certain.

No affidavit naming the charge against Kennedy will be made out, according to Prosecutor Marshall but evidence in the case will simply be produced and the Grand Jury left to determine the degree of the charge.

A marked improvement has been noticed in Kennedy's condition since an attack of pneumonia abated and the gun wound above his heart is slowly healing. He was also able to rest upon his back Tuesday night for the first time since the shooting.

County authorities declared Wednesday that Kennedy may be taken to the County Jail either Friday or Saturday if his condition permits. A guard is still being maintained at the home in Cedarville.

Kennedy shot his wife in a fit of jealousy Saturday morning, January 3, at their home on Miller Street, Cedarville and then turned the pistol upon himself. The woman died the following day.

ATLAS HOTEL SOLD TO SPRINGFIELD WOMAN WEDNESDAY

Sale of the Atlas Hotel, South Detroit Street, to Elizabeth B. Weinbrecht, Springfield, was announced Wednesday by Ralph Mangan, proprietor of the hotel for the past year.

Mr. Mangan declared he will continue active management of the hotel indefinitely to assist in acquainting the new owner with the business. The new owner will take possession February 1.

Mrs. Weinbrecht has had long experience in the hotel business as sole owner of the Roger Hotel, Springfield, for nineteen years and is considering remodeling and making improvements in the dining room of the Atlas when she assumes control, it is said.

Mr. Mangan purchased the hotel from John Mendenhall a year ago when the latter bought the New Manhattan Restaurant, North Detroit Street, after it had gone under receivership.

He has not made definite plans for entering into future business association.

Mr. Mangan formerly owned a farm on the Jamestown Pike, near Xenia, but sold it to the colored K. of P. Lodge, when he acquired the Atlas Hotel.

Money involved in the deal was not mentioned in the transaction.

UNDERWOOD ACT AGAIN ADOPTED BY SENATE VOTE

Voted On Second Time After Unusual Imbroglio

Washington, D. C., Jan. 14.—The Senate this afternoon again adopted the Underwood Muscle Shoals Bill.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Muscle Shoals legislation was ensnared in another parliamentary imbroglio in the senate today.

After a whirlwind of balloting, accomplishing no final results, the senate had before it again the Underwood Muscle Shoals bill, previously rejected by a 13 majority. This unusual situation was brought about by a legislative tangle almost unprecedented in recent years in the upper chamber.

First the senate substituted, 48 to 37, the Underwood bill for the Norris government ownership plan. This was accomplished by administration senators going to the Underwood ranks.

Then, deserting the Underwood bill, administration supporters joined with progressives and a handful of Democrats to kill the Underwood measure by substituting for it the Jones commission plan. The vote was 46 to 33. Senator Curtis of Kansas, Republican leader, warned his followers not to desert the Underwood bill, saying such action would provoke Democrats into swinging strength to the Norris plan, introduced in modified form as a substitute for the Jones bill.

This is exactly what happened when the showdown came between the Norris and Jones proposals. Underwood Democrats switched to the Norris plan and it replaced the Jones bill by one vote, 40 to 39.

Encouraged by the rapid shifting of sentiment, Senator Underwood, Democrat of Alabama, revived his bill and that was pending for a vote today.

Thus, the senate, in its balloting went completely around a circle, passing bills that it previously rejected and found itself today in exactly the same position it was last week when the Underwood substitute was adopted.

REPORTS HEAD AT MCKINLEY P. T. A.

The McKinley Parent-Teachers Association held an interesting meeting Monday afternoon when reports were heard from the various committees previously appointed.

Forty-three dollars were received as a share of the society from the sale of anti-tuberculosis seals in Xenia.

Owing to a misunderstanding as to the time of the meeting, the awarding of the prize which was offered to the room having the best representation of mothers was postponed until the February meeting.

Mrs. J. H. Benbow, president of the federation, gave an outline of the program to be presented at the district meeting to be held in Xenia January 29.

PRESIDENT MORGAN OF ANTIOCH IS KEPT BUSY WITH SPEECHES

Probably no other college president in this country has so many calls upon his time as Arthur E. Morgan, president of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio.

The reason for this is because Morgan, who planned, and directed for several years, the building of the great Miami Valley Conservancy project is besides being one of the best known engineers in this country, a trail-blazer in the field of education. He is constantly on the go. His present itinerary includes the following speaking engagements:

Monday, January 19, at 8 P. M., he speaks at the Wilmington (Delaware) High School Auditorium.

Tuesday afternoon, January 20, at the Baltimore Parent Teachers Association.

Friday noon, January 23 he speaks at a luncheon of the City Club, Philadelphia, and at 8 P. M., same date, at The Friends School, of Mount Moorestown New Jersey.

Saturday, January 24, he speaks before the Bureau of Occupation, Philadelphia, returning to Yellow Springs Sunday, January 25.

Mr. Morgan broadcasted a talk on the Antioch College Plan before the Automotive Engineers Association from the Hotel Astor, New York City, Thursday evening, January 8, after which he was compelled to make a trip to Colorado before keeping the speaking engagements scheduled for him on this trip. Fresh calls await his return to Antioch where every moment of his time will be taken up by the thousands and one things demanding his attention at the college.

MYSTERIES OF TELEPHONE EXPLAINED TO VISITORS

Public officials, bank officers and business men of the city were guests of the Ohio Bell Telephone Company, Monday, when it received on the first day of "Visiting Week"

The Xenia Bell Telephone Exchange played host to Xenians Monday, the first day of Visiting Week being observed at the exchange, and the intricate mechanism of the telephone process was explained to a constant stream of visitors.

H. W. Cleaver, commercial manager of the Xenia exchange, received the visitors, who were conducted over the exchange by Miss Stella Tuhey, chief operator and told of the operation of the switchboard and other departments of the headquarters.

The work of the "hello" girls was an interesting feature to the visitors and their management of the calls carefully explained by Miss Tuhey and Mr. Cleaver. Problems that confront the owner of the "voice with the smile" were made clear to the visitors, which is one of the benefits to subscribers to be derived from Visitors' Week, it is hoped by telephone officials.

The Xenia exchange takes care of 2,500 city subscribers and 620 rural subscribers, thirteen thousand calls per day are handled at the Xenia exchange and 300 toll calls.

Six hundred miles of wires are placed in the underground cables of the company and the aerial cables consist of 2010 miles of wire. The average number of calls handled by the Xenia exchange each hour is 225. The Xenia switchboard contains forty-six miles of wire and 134,845 soldered joints.

The compartment adjoining the switchboard, the different parts that go to make up a telephone, were exhibited by the company and demonstrated by Charles Scroggy, vice chief of the Xenia exchange.

Twenty-two operators are employed at the Xenia exchange. They are the Misses Rachel Dice, Frances Farrell, clerk; Edith Jackson, Gladys Jenks, Cleo Jones, Margaret Kennedy, Lola Moorman, Louise Negus, Ruth Negus Thelma Peele, Irene Robinette, Mary Schoemaker, Grace Simbro, Lois Simson, Mildred Sutton, Alma Swindler, Evelyn Weddle, Mrs. Lelah Highley, and Miss Lorena Mansfield.

A. E. Faulkner, S. M. McKay, H. S. LeSourd, J. Harve Lackey, Deri Beam Paul Creswell, R. O. Wead, Herman Eavey, James Curlett, Harry E. Rice and Mr. and Mrs. Morgan St. John.

THE TELEPHONE

This is an age when scientific and mechanical wonders crowd each other so swiftly in sequence that the bewildered layman, adopting a safety policy, accepts all new inventions without questioning or explanation, in order to keep up with the times.

When Alexander Graham Bell perfected the contrivance to carry the human voice by wire, it was recognized as a remarkable invention. Time however, during which the telephone became both general and standard, convinced the public of the great commercial and social asset that had thus been brought into being. The telephone is now so much a part of our domestic, industrial and commercial life that activities would almost come to a halt if its advantages were to be suddenly removed.

Yet so many of us are bewildered now about the process of radio, that few give attention to the principles of the telephone, and few indeed, can explain them. An opportunity for an inside view of the operation of the telephone exchange is being afforded now by The Ohio Bell Telephone Company.

This is visitors' week, when officials are giving a courteous reception to guests and explaining away the mysteries that cloud the telephone exchange. A trip to the exchange therefore is both instructive and educational, and will answer many questions that come to the mind when service is not punctual.

H. W. Cleaver, commercial manager in the Xenia area for this company, is in charge of the visiting program at the local exchange. Every courteous, Mr. Cleaver is now offering to Xenians a show of compelling interest—a look behind the scenes at the exchange.

He hopes that the crowds that have already visited the exchange will be outnumbered by others that will make the inspection before the week is out, so that better relations between subscribers and the telephone company, will have blossomed.

AND WHERE LIES PERDITION?

The Rev. Mr. Showers, who addressed members of the Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon Tuesday, is an optimist of the right sort.

Instead of sitting down and brooding about the effect of present crime conditions, and the criminal tendencies that newspaper accounts make us believe are sweeping the country, the minister looks beyond these present-day facts and finds a good result to come from them in the future.

He believes that these trying internal conditions will merely resolve themselves into a grinding stone, on which will be polished off a higher type of patriotism, a stronger and harder race and a greater America of the future.

The Rev. Mr. Showers is therefore an analyst, who finds some good in the evil of life and promises a fulfillment of that adage that "it is an ill wind that blows no one good." In these days when modern novelists of the intelligentsia type would have us think perdition lies around the corner, it is a consoling thing to hear the Rev. Mr. Showers' optimistic view of conditions.

BORN—A GRANDSON OF PRESIDENT TYLER

The announcement that a grandson to President Tyler has just been born is calculated to give rise to a sense of incredulity at first thought. John Tyler has been dead sixty-three years; but he lived to be 72 years of age. His two children were born long after he left the presidency, one when he was 68 years old, the other when he was 70. The son, Dr. Lyon G. Harding, now is 71, and to him is born the grandson of the President.

John Tyler was the last of the presidents to represent Virginia, which gave so generous a share of the early executives, although two others, Taylor and Wilson, were natives of that state. The Tylers were and always have been typical of Virginia and retained their identification with the state. The youngest Tyler was born on the old Sherwood Forest estate, where his father, his grandfather and his great-grandfather were born, and which is still the seat of the Tyler family. His mother, thirty-five years younger than Dr. Tyler, was the daughter of Edmund Ruffin, who fired the first shot on Ft. Sumter thus beginning the hostilities of the Civil War. Edmund Ruffin was identified conspicuously with the Southern cause, and when it was lost he committed suicide rather than submit to the victors. If this boy should live to be 75 years old, President Tyler who was born in 1790 still would be represented by a grandson in the year 2000.—Kansas City Star.

THE MOTHER TELLS HER STORY
TO THE CHILDREN

When first I met your father, it was at a wedding, dears,
And he wore a high white collar which stretched right up to his ears;
He was thin and short and nervous,
And his dress coat didn't fit,
And I didn't like the way he dressed
his hair a little bit;
It was parted in the middle and it lopped across his brow,
And I never dreamed that evening I'd
be married to him now.

I knew a dozen fellows who were
handsomer than he,
And all of them were richer, and they
thought a lot of me;
And they bought me flowers and candy every time they came to call,
So this meeting with your father
didn't mean much after all;
And besides his ways annoyed me
I'd have told him if I dared,
That I didn't like his manner and the vulgar way he stared.

Well, next Sunday after dinner he came up to call on me,
And stayed so long that Grandma
then invited him for tea;
After that he came so often that
your Grandpa used to say:
"That skinny gawk is driving all the healthy stock away!"
But somehow I'd grown to like him
and I marveled that I could,
For he never tried to kiss me—though
I often wished he would.

Now that's all there is to tell you
by next June I was his bride,
but before that I had made him part

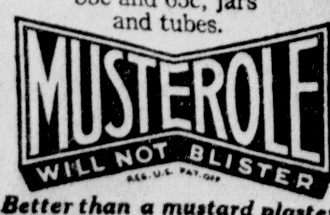

his hair upon the side,
And I'd made him change his collars,
and I'd slicked him up a lot,
For I taught him what he should do,
and the things which he should not.
But now don't tell I've told you—
that's the way I met your dad.
Would I do the same thing over?
Well—he hasn't been so bad!

I believe that "Hamburg Steak" has kept down more food budgets than any other meat dish. Not because this chopped beef is necessarily cheap per pound. But because the housewife can buy it in small quantities. Every saving woman knows that the three great methods of keeping down with a pinch of salt and pepper, add a sprinkling of raw chopped onion, four peeled and minced onions, one can of tomatoes, one-half cup of grated or finely chopped mild American cheese and salt and pepper. Sprinkle a little of the raw chopped meat over the layer of cooked macaroni; season a baking dish. The other ingredients are: One pound of hamburger steak, buy it in small amounts—only a food expenses are: 1. Pay cash for everything; 2. When you buy meat pound or two at a time (it's the best roasts that cost!) 3. Use meat-substitutes often in place of meat—that is, cheese, eggs, milk, baked beans and other protein foods.
But if we are to use Hamburg Steak frequently, we should know how to serve it in many ways, to avoid monotony. Here are a few of the most delicious:

Baked Macaroni-Hamburg Dish: (This is a little one-dish dinner in itself. All you'd need, to make it a well-rounded meal, are a salad and a fruit dessert.) Boil one-half pound of either spaghetti or macaroni in salted drain it and put a portion of it into water to cover, and when tender then a layer of the canned tomatoes and some grated cheese. Repeat these layers till all your ingredients are used. Cover all with buttered crumbs and bake in a moderate oven for 40 minutes. Serve at once.

Hamburg Italian Style: The ingredients are one and one-half pound of chopped beef, three peeled and minced onions, one green sweet pepper previously par-boiled with seeds removed, two tablespoons of beef drippings, a few drops of Worcestershire Sauce two tablespoons of tomato catsup, salt, pepper. Fry the onions and chopped pepper in the drippings and

Today's Talks

THE GOOD OF PRAYER

Somehow I wouldn't like to trust a man who didn't pray at some time or other.

This doesn't mean that he would have to believe as I do in regard to God or religion or any special form of prayer.

We think in a language. Our brains are wonderful organs of great possible power.

But behind the brain is the thought of the heart. And it is this thought that shapes our spiritual strength.

You grow physically as you take care of your body, study its different reactions and obey its just calls. William Muddon, the great physical trainer of men, once said that it was surprising how quickly the human body responded to a little kindness. And so it is marvelous how the spiritual life of a man is awakened and enlarged by just a little spiritual encouragement.

Prayer is the language of the heart and soul. Our lips may utter this language in words. But behind the words is the life itself—that abundant life that comes to every man or woman who seeks it in "sincerity and truth."

The good of prayer is that it makes you good. It cleans out the inner life, which is the real life. It calms the physical nature and blots out selfishness and self-conceit.

When a great man or woman comes pray. The mere words they utter matter little. For you see God alone is the interpreter. And He doesn't care about rhetoric.

One of the loveliest characters I have ever known was that of a real estate man whose smile brought greater streams of sunshine into his office and who daily kissed his junior partner—his own son—before passing into his own office where he always prayed before the business day began.

This man was one whom I always loved to hear pray in public for he lived his prayers.

ST. BRIGIDS HIGH NOW REPRESENTED WITH COURT TEAM

After a season's absence from the court St. Brigid High School will have a basketball team. The team will play mostly road ball and the first game will take place on Friday night at Springfield when it meets its old time rival, St. Raphael High.

The locals are being primed and groomed for the season by Laurence Rachford, former coach of the Meteors and Cadets. Rachford turned out winning combinations with these teams so no doubt he can do the same with the saints. They have had three workouts, hardly enough to get the stiffness worked out, yet all are practically laid with plenty of experience. Donovan, Sayre, Graham, Hicks, W. Rachford, Cain, McCormick, Langan, Kileen and Kehle will form the squad. They will be rather light for a high school five but expect to make themselves heard from before the season is over.

St. Raphael will have several advantages over the locals. The one and most important is that they have already played and won three games beating the Alumni, Knights of Columbus and Urbana High. They will also have a weight advantage and more practice than the local five. Naturally they are favored to cop but the dope buckett may be upset. The last time they met the local boys they gave them a terrific lacing and word from their camp indicates that they are going to repeat. The West Street bunch thinks a bit different about the matter and says that they are going to bring home the bacon.

CENTRAL TOSSERS INVADE FOREIGN FIELDS THIS WEEK

Central High School will invade foreign fields Friday and Saturday nights for the first time this year, when Greenfield and Urbana are met on successive days on a week and barnstorming trip.

Following the neat win from Bradford last week, Coach John Ballantyne's lads are practicing harder than ever to make the coming trip a success.

Greenfield has always held a jinx over Xenia in basketball and has always come out of the game on the long end of the score despite numerous close calls. On the other hand Xenia was always successful in the gridiron sport until the Green eleven broke the jinx during the past season, proving conclusively that a jinx can be broken.

With this in mind, Central entertains hopes of turning the tables on its traditional rivals Friday evening, and of ending up the trip with a win over Urbana, which team it has not defeated for several years.

CHURCH COURT LOOP ORGANIZED WITH 10 TEAMS REPRESENTED

The City Church Basketball League was formally organized at a meeting in the basement of the Reformed Church Tuesday night with ten church teams composing the loop.

John Ballantyne, athletic director of Central High School, was elected general manager of the circuit and will arrange a schedule of games for the season.

The ten-team loop is composed of the following church teams: First United Presbyterian, Second United Presbyterian, Reformed, Episcopal First Presbyterian, Friends, St. Brigid's, Trinity Methodist Episcopal, First Methodist Episcopal and the O. S. and S. O. Home.

Games will be played at the Central High School gymnasium on Monday and Wednesday nights of each week beginning next Monday. The use of the gym for two nights each week was granted by the Board of Education.

Each church must furnish its own floor equipment and each member of the various teams is required to attend Sunday School class at his church the Sunday preceding the games to be eligible for participation.

J. J. Stout announced his donation of a basketball to the league for the games and the Rev. F. W. Stanton, pastor of the First M. E. Church, donated a ball for practice.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Dr. F. W. Stanton of the First M. E. Church gave an interesting talk to the students of Central High School at an assembly in the Jean B. Elwell Auditorium Tuesday afternoon on the subject of "Getting A Start in Life."

Dr. Stanton said that Napoleon, Caesar and several others were all very young when they made their reputations and that it pays to get an early start in life. Dr. Stanton said that everyone is born with a destination and to be sure to choose a life work before leaving high school. He also named the three greatest points to follow and develop as Physical, Moral and Spiritual. Dr. Stanton pointed out that over half of the soldiers in the Civil War were under 22 years of age. The High School Choir sang several numbers and Dr. Stanton pronounced the benediction and the pupils returned to their sixth period classes.

GIRLS' TEAMS PLAY

Yellow Springs will be invaded by the girls' team of Urbana Junior College Thursday night which plays Coach Prugh's formidable aggregation of Antioch co-eds. The games will start at 8:15.

This will be the first game for the Antioch girls during the second part of B division.

FOREIGN TRADE IN 1924 WAS FAVORABLE

Washington, Jan. 14—America's foreign trade in 1924 totalled $8,193,000,000, the department of commerce announced today. The favorable balance of trade was close to $1,000,000.

An excess of $29,000,000 gold exports over imports for December, was announced. It was the first since 1920 in which exports exceeded imports. The gold imports for 1924 totalled $319,720,000, compared to exports of $61,548,000. Last year $322,715,000 in gold was imported and $28,643,000 exported.

CLEAN KIDNEYS BY DRINKING LOTS OF WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers or Back Hurts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts can not injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year. dv

Growing Rich Becomes a Habit

The acquisition of money and property, once begun, is a simple, easy process.

Growing rich becomes a habit like anything else—and once started it is difficult, if not almost impossible to stop the growth. And here's the simple recipe—providing you spend just a little less than you earn, and place the "difference" in a Bank Account and then add to it regularly.

You never tasted such rich mellowness as Wellman's method puts in this tobacco

{ Back about 1870, James N. Wellman developed a secret tobacco process which won instant and widespread favor. It yielded a fuller-bodied richness, mellowness and fragrance which just seemed to "go" with a pipe. No one else ever knew his secret until we acquired "Wellman's Method" and by its means made "Granger Rough Cut" }

MODISH MITZI—Mitzi Keeps To Her Budget

By Jay V. Jay

The first item on Mitzi's budget is a street dress. Mitzi has in mind a dress she can wear in midwinter in the house and on the street in the spring. It should be of a practical material and fairly warm. By the way, see Mitzi's point crown hat, smart isn't it?

The first dress Mitzi tries on is a two-piece style of flannel. It has a turnover collar. The blouse has straight lines and fits rather snugly over the hips. The skirt carries all the fullness in front.

This is another attractive two-piece dress. The skirt has a camisole top so it hangs perfectly straight. The overblouse fits snugly around the hips. The collar and cuffs are of pique in buff color. The dress is made of navy blue tricotine.

This is a little kasha dress with a long waist effect. It is trimmed with a contrasting color on the collar. Some fullness is given to the skirt by inverted pleats. It's not so hard to keep to your clothes budget after all. If you can't do it Mitzi will help you. Just watch her and see.

CARELESSNESS IS "DEMON GERM" DALY TELLS KIWANISANS

The demon germ "Carelessness" causes more deaths than typhoid or smallpox, declared J. E. Daly, assistant trainmaster of the Cincinnati Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad in a talk on "Safety First" before the Xenia Kiwanis Club, Tuesday evening at the Elks' Club.

Mr. Daly explained the work of the forty-eight safety committees on each division of the Pennsylvania system. The committees are composed of the superintendent of the division, who serves as chairman; staff officers, passenger agent, brakemen, trackmen, track superintendent, shop foremen, shop mechanics and shop laborers. There is a safety inspector for each division.

During a period of four months, forty people disregarded the watchman's signal on the Cincinnati Division, Mr. Daly said. He told of the "Careful Cross Campaign" staged by the railroad company from June through September, which is largely carried on through advertising. Mr. Daly is secretary of the safety committee for the Cincinnati Division.

He said during four months in 1923 that 120 people were killed on the Pennsylvania System and during the same period in 1924, only ninety met their death. There was a decrease of all accidents during the last year, according to the speaker.

"The best safety device in the world is the man himself," Mr. Daly declared, bringing out that drivers should be educated to use precaution at railroad crossings.

Mr. Daly's talk followed the club dinner and business meeting. Ralph M. Neeld was awarded the attendance prize of the club.

MASS CELEBRATED FOR DEAD PRELATE

The Rev. David Powers, pastor of St. Brigid's Catholic Church, celebrated High Mass Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock in memory of Archbishop Henry Moeller, of Cincinnati, who was buried in Cincinnati Tuesday following the solemn funeral service of the Catholic Church.

Many of the congregation of St. Brigid's attended the service Wednesday morning. The Rev. Father Powers attended the funeral services Tuesday and the Rev. Albert A. Burke, pastor of Corpus Christi Church, Dayton, and former pastor here, was a cross bearer among the priests assisting Patrick Cardinal Hayes in the celebration of the funeral mass.

St. Brigid's parochial school was closed Tuesday because of the funeral of the church official.

BRINGING UP FATHER

The Husband Tamer by VIOLET DARE

AUTHOR OF "The Half-Time Wife," "The Luxury of Love" etc.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

PATRICIA CLEVE protests to her husband, ANDREW CLEVE, a young lawyer, that he has made her a tamer of other women's husbands, forcing her to do so much entertaining of his clients that he sacrifices her to his business. She goes on a visit to her sister, CAROL WILLOUGHBY, who, with her husband, KEITH WILLOUGHBY, lives in a country club colony near Chicago. But Keith, like Andrew, seeks to use Patricia's charm as an asset, trying to persuade her to intercede in his behalf with

GREGORY HEWITT, a famous financier, whom she has met through Andrew. Patricia is disturbed by Keith's attentions to ISOBEL DRAKE, the country club widow. Finding that she can come between them by yielding to Keith's urging that she invite Hewitt to dinner, she does so, reluctantly, as Hewitt has avowed his love for her. She plans to return home, but receives word from Andrew that he is going abroad at once.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT

XXXIV—RAILROADS—AND LOVE!

S TILL in her reckless mood when she met Gregory Hewitt, Patricia was not at all disturbed to find Isobel Drake lunching at an adjoining table. Isobel spoke most affably, with her really charming smile that had won more than one captive to her train.

"There's the reason for my phoning you yesterday," Patricia told Hewitt. "The blonde siren at the next table is after my brother-in-law's scalp, and my sister simply won't realize it. He was awfully eager to have you come to the house, because he wanted to see if he couldn't somehow do business with you on that railroad question—and because I knew you and could back in reflected glory, I managed to snatch him from her clutches. But I've lost out now; they're playing golf together this afternoon."

"Want to put a stop to that?" asked Hewitt lazily, his amused eyes on her face.

"I'd love to," Patricia answered promptly. "I'd do most anything to make Keith see how lovely his own wife is and how he's being snared."

"All right. Suppose—just suppose—I decide to build that railroad at once. And suppose that I insist that your brother-in-law must go out there with me, and that his wife must go along, because I'd like to have you go. How's that? We'll all have a delightful jaunt west, stopping to see about the road and then going on to my place on the Pacific Coast. What do you say?"

"Do you mean that really and truly you'll build that railroad now if I say so?" He nodded. "Can you do it, just offhand like that?" she insisted, her eyes big with wonder. "Why, I had no idea that you were such an influential maa as all that!" He laughed delightedly.

"Wait and see the things I can show you, child," he told her. "Now, tell me where I can get in touch with this brother-in-law of yours in time to break off the golf engagement; at his office? All right. I'll have him come to see me this afternoon, and you march your lively self straight out and buy riding habits and all that sort of thing, for we'll be leaving in a few days."

Patricia and he were just leaving when Isobel joined them, the tall, blonde young man who had been her host at luncheon at her side.

"I suppose this is one of the family affairs that you mix into, dear?" she murmured to Patricia, with a malicious little smile. She was gaily looking at Hewitt, lifting limpid eyes to him. "I've wanted so much to meet you, Mr. Hewitt," she exclaimed, slurring her words softly together. "But somehow it just didn't seem to be managed yesterday out at the club—though I surely don't blame Mrs. Cleve for wanting to keep you to herself!"

Patricia clenched one small hand furiously, longing to retaliate, but Hewitt was doing that for her.

"We had a delightful time; sorry you weren't one of us," he was saying smoothly. "Knowing the New York branch of the family, of course I wanted to meet the Chicago members, too, so it was a reunion of a sort."

"I see. Well, I must rush away; Keith's promised to give me a lesson in putting this afternoon," with a sidelong glance at Patricia as she trailed away.

Hewitt smiled. "She's not going to get the sort of lesson she expects," he commented quietly. "Now, are you dining at home? I'd like to call you later and let you have my report on the meeting be-between your estimable brother-in-law and me."

Hewitt waited in the lobby for Patricia.

"I don't know what the plans are, but I'll surely be at home at six," she promised him.

She spent the afternoon hurrying about, buying linen and tweed riding habits, boots, hats, soft, tailored shirts of heavy silk, gaudily striped ties, gauntlets; she wanted to be so busy that she would not think of Andy.

But at twilight, as the train wound its way between the autumn-tinted fields, and she smelled the smoke of burning leaves and watched an early moon rise, it was impossible to escape from her own heartache. She could not lash herself into a fury against Andrew now; her anger had gone, and left only a strange sense of emptiness.

She was glad to leave the train and climb into a motor bus, glad to be swept past the brightly lighted clubhouse and on toward her sister's house, to run up to the nursery and catch a glimpse of the rosy-cheeked infant, who was sitting drowsily on his mother's knee while she fed him the last of his supper, and to hear Carol's excited tale of how Hewitt had sent for Keith, and was going to build the railroad after all—wasn't that simply wonderful?

"It's been worth what I've done, I suppose," Patricia told herself, as she dressed for dinner. "And it would be nice to be able always to have so much power—but what's a railroad in my life, when Andy's gone off to England without me!"

Tomorrow—A Bitter Cup.

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but a moment to prepare, and saves you about $2.

You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine is famous for this purpose.

Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup. To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, good and very pleasant—children take it eagerly.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause in the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

DOCTORS PRESCRIBE NEW FORM COCO LIVER OIL CALLED COCO COD

Builds Strength and Stamina; Makes You Feel Alive in Every Fibre

A new form of pure Norwegian cod liver oil called Coco Cod is being prescribed extensively by physicians here with amazing results. It is really delightful to take because it has the taste of rich cocoa.

"If our food contained the nourishing vitamins found in Coco Cod, elements which make strong, steady nerves and rich red blood, there would be no need for tonics," said a doctor. But modern food is weak, and modern cookery renders it weaker.

Cod liver oil, always popular with the medical fraternity, has won added confidence in this new form called Coco Cod, because of the rich A, B, C and D vitamins which the preparation contains.

It is astounding how men and women, who really consider themselves normal, healthy people, gain added strength, stamina and sheer vitality in a comparatively short time. Even athletes, eager to reach the pink of condition, find a short cut to their goal through Coco Cod.

Children who shrink from ordinary cod liver oil, love Coco Cod with its delightful cocoa flavor. And how they thrive on it! Mothers and fathers, worn and tired from over-work and under-nourishment, find new vigor and energy in Coco Cod, which makes them feel alive in every fibre.

All good druggists have Coco Cod, the new easy-to-take cod liver oil with the taste of rich cocoa.—Adv.

REGULATION OF BUSSES FIRST BILL FOR VOTE

Child Labor Question Goes
To Committee Wednesday P. M.

Columbus, O., Jan. 14.—The first measure to go before the senate on the question of passage is the Collister bill conferring upon city authorities the power now vested in the state utilities commission to regulate operation of motor bus transportation for hire wholly within a city's limits.

By a vote of 4 to 3, the senate automotive committee recommended passage of the Collister bill.

The child labor question is scheduled to come up in the senate this afternoon when Lieutenant Governor Lewis, as presiding officer of the upper legislative branch, is expected to refer to committee the joint resolution providing for ratification of the proposed child labor amendment. At the public hearing in the house chamber late Tuesday relative to this proposal, Dean Vivian, college of agriculture, Ohio State University, speaking against it, predicted its defeat, 3 to 1, if referred to a general vote of the people of Ohio.

Asserting there has been "too much invasion of homes," he warned against the possibility that "our homes will be nationalized unless the proposed child labor amendment and similar proposals are defeated."

J. H. Frey, Cincinnati, president of the Ohio Federation of Labor, declaring labor in factories is different than that on the farm, urged protection of children against the "blight of industry."

Chester A. Dyer, (Columbus, legislative agent for the Ohio Grange and Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, read letters from President L. J. Tabor, Barnesville, of the Grange, and from J. H. Newmeyer, Jackson, chairman of the Ohio Bankers Association's agricultural committee opposing the proposed amendment.

The public hearing in the house is scheduled to be continued today.

PASTOR HOPES FOR STRONG RACE FROM CHAOS OF PRESENT

A hope that a stronger country and race of people in America would be the outgrowth of the present lack of adjustment, was expressed by the Rev. J. B. Showers, professor at Bonebrake Seminary, Dayton, in an address before the Xenia Rotary Club, at the Elks' Club, Tuesday noon.

The Rev. Mr. Showers took as his theme President Calvin Coolidge's declaration that the present day need is for the people of America to rededicate themselves to God and to America.

He spoke of the strong influence of the Puritan forefathers, up to the present and declared the country and its people will grow strong in the face of opposition.

He held no fears for the influence of the crime waves and criticism sweeping over the country and declared renewed strength of America would be the result.

Plans for the Ki-Ro meeting, a week from Thursday night, in connection with Thrift Week, at which James A. Devine, Columbus, secretary of the Ohio Building and Loan Association, will be the speaker, were discussed at the meeting.

TO SMASH PLANES IN TEST TO DETERMINE ACCIDENT CAUSES

Four spectacular airplane crashes in the form of tests will take place at Wilbur Field some time this week, according to an announcement of McCook Field officials.

Planes are being made to contrive to have the crashes correspond in every possible way with the fatality that might accompany each.

The test crashes are the first of their kind ever tried in the country as far as is known and it is hoped through these experiments to discover the cause wherein death occurs to the pilot and to guard against them.

Another purpose is to determine what methods can be best employed in preventing a plane from catching fire when it crashes.

Four old planes equipped with four old motors are to be used in the test crashes.

The planes will speed down a 100 yard skidway and during the last few yards, when they will have attained their greatest speed, they will smash into a concrete wall.

Moving pictures will be made of each crash and a close examination of the actual results can thus be made.

SOB STORIES
It is understood that undesirable soliciting of small donations by individuals has been going on in Xenia, under the guise of "sob stories" which sound quite plausible.

Charitable civic organizations are asking the public to refuse assistance in such cases and to refer them to the American Red Cross and the Social Service League, which organizations will investigate the merits of the cases.

AMERICAN POLICY TOWARD RUSSIA TO SOFTEN GRADUALLY

Recognition Is Already Sought By Soviet Republic

London, Jan. 14.—Diplomatic machinery already has been set in motion with a view to gaining recognition for the soviet republic by the United States, it was said in anti-soviet circles here today.

Christian Rakovsky, London representative of the soviet trade delegation was said to be enroute to Moscow where he hoped to be empowered to enter into negotiations with U. S. Ambassador Kellogg on the subject of recognition for Russia.

Washington, Jan. 14.—A gradual softening of American policy toward Russia, rather than any quick, precipitate leap into recognition and renewed governmental relations is expected here to follow the retirement of Charles E. Hughes, as secretary of state.

White House denials that there will be any marked changes in the foreign policies of the administration after Frank B. Kellogg succeeds Secretary Hughes are taken with a grain of salt. Between foreign offices such denials are usually characteristic of "diplomatic denials."

Circumstances have combined since congress assembled in Washington six weeks ago to remove some of the bitterest opponents of any trafficking with soviet Russia. One was the death of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor. Another was the elevation of Senator William E. Borah to the chairmanship of the senate foreign relations committee. A third comes now in the resignation of Hughes.

Although they had little else in common, Hughes and Gompers saw eye to eye regarding Russia and in some quarters their combined opposition is credited with forestalling any moves toward restored relations.

DR. G. H. BIRNEY TO CONDUCT SPECIAL SERVICES IN XENIA

Special preparations are being made by the pastors of the two Xenia Methodist Episcopal Churches, Dr. V. F. Brown and Dr. F. W. Stanton, for the coming of Dr. George Hugh Birney, evangelist of Cleveland, to hold evangelistic meetings here.

Dr. Birney will begin his work in Xenia, January 25 at 10:30 A. M. and will continue until February 8. Meetings will be held afternoons and evenings. All the services will be conducted in the First M. E. Church on West Second Street.

Dr. Birney is one of the outstanding evangelists of the Methodist Church and has held meetings in some of the largest churches of the country. He is endorsed by Bishops and pastors of different denominations.

Dr. W. W. Bustard, noted Baptist pastor of Cleveland, says of him, "Dr. Birney is a great favorite of my people. He is a Spirit-filled man. There is no job too big for him. I am glad to commend him to my brethren."

Bishop W. F. Anderson, says "I commend him without reservation as a leader in evangelistic campaigns."

MARINES STILL AID IN CHINESE WAR

Shanghai, Jan. 14.—American marines, landed from destroyers, were assisting Chinese troops of the Peking government who are still held in internment camps. The foreign consuls reached a decision not to deliver the prisoners to either of the warring factions and favored sending them home on foreign ships. Funds, however, are not available for this.

Believe Ship Will Be Salvaged—Crew Comfortable Although Bad Weather Makes Situation Precarious.

Boston, Jan. 14.—"The wrecking was still on board this morning," Messages from the coast guard cutters Tampa and Acushnet, which stood by the crippled submersible throughout the night, stated it would be extremely hazardous to attempt to communicate with the S-19 under existing conditions. The crew of the submarine refused to leave their craft when reached by a coast guard boat last night. At that time the submarine was favored by a calm sea, but this morning with the weather again heavy, she was pounding on the sand bar in such a manner that fear was expressed that she would open her plates and let in the sea. If water should reach the battery room the crew of 28 officers and men aboard would be in immediate danger of death from the chlorine gas that would be generated.

The Resolute, according to Commander Poteet is equipped with wrecking machinery which practically assures the salvaging of the submarine.

"The submarine reported today that all on board were comfortable and in no immediate danger," the commander said. "The weather is a bit rough but the vessel is thus far weathering it satisfactorily."

Chatham, Mass., Jan. 14.—The position of the United States submarine S-19, which grounded on a sandbar off Nauset Beach, has become precarious, according to naval officers, who today viewed with alarm the rapidly falling barometer. At two a. m. the big submersible was resting easily. The wind was scarcely thirty miles velocity but within the next four hours the glass fell precipitately and at six o'clock a 45 mile wind from the north west had whipped up. The crew

Father Blocked From Rescue, Saves Life By Jumping

Canton, O., Jan. 14.—Helen, 11, and Leonard, 4, children of Newton Spriggle, who with their father have been making their home with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spriggle since the death of their mother, two years ago, were burned to death early this morning when fire completely destroyed the house.

The children and their father were asleep on the second floor at the time the fire was discovered by a neighbor E. Phillips, who assisted Mrs. Frank Spriggle and her aged father, Jonathan Grable, from the house.

Frank Spriggle, father of the children, was compelled to jump from a second story window to save his life. He tried to get the children out, but they slept in another room somewhat removed from his, on the second floor and he was cut off from making the rescue by smoke and flames.

OLD DWELLING IS SOLD; TO BE RAZED

One of the oldest landmarks of the city will be changed as the result of the sale of two lots on Locust Street, by W. E. Fletcher to G. M. Stiles. The lots adjoin the Stiles residence and an old brick house, one of the oldest structures in the city, is built on the land. The property is in the Allen and Wright addition and the brick house was constructed about 100 years ago. The structure will be torn down to give place to residences to be constructed by Mr. Stiles.

ANOTHER RESCUE PARTY FORMED TO BRING FROM MOUNTAIN BODY OF GIRL LOST IN CLIMB

Denver, Colo., Jan. 14.—Another rescue party was formed at Estes Park today to make a third attempt to bring down from the storm swept summit of Long's peak, the frozen body of Miss Agnes Vaille, Smith College graduate and well known Colorado mountain climber who was overcome by Arctic temperatures and fierce winds, and frozen to death after she had scaled the great height late Monday.

All hope of finding alive Herbert Sortland, member of a rescue party who became lost in a raging gale has been virtually abandoned. Belief was expressed that Sortland's body had been covered under the huge snowdrifts that have been piled several feet deep, following the heavy snowfall of the last 48 hours.

Walter Keiner, Alpine mountain climber and companion of Miss Vaille on her fatal trip, related a thrilling tale today of his fight in the storm with the temperature ranging down to 50 degrees below zero to seek aid for Miss Vaille after her feet had been frozen and exhaustion prevented her from descending the mountain after reaching the top.

DAYTON ATTORNEY PLEADS FOR BISHOP IN HERESY HEARING

Cleveland, O., Jan. 14.—Charles L. Dibble, church advocate of Kalamazoo, Michigan, was to present arguments today to the board of eight bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church, sitting as a court of review, why the finding of the trial court last May that Bishop William Montgomery Brown, retired bishop of Arkansas, was a heretic, had been confirmed.

It was expected that the arguments would continue until tomorrow. Yesterday was taken up with argument of Joseph Sharts of Dayton, chief counsel for the accused bishop, who contended that teachings of Bishop Brown in his book, "Christianism and Communism" had been torn from their context to make a prime fact case of heresy against his client.

UNITED STATES PARTNER WITH ALLIES IN PLAN

Kellogg Confers With Herriot
On French Debt Question

New Secretary of State
Says Conference Opens
New Era

Paris, Jan. 14.—The financial conference agreement, making the United States a partner with the allies in the profits and responsibilities of enforcement of the Dawes plan was signed at 10:40 a. m. today. Ambassadors Herriot and Kellogg, the latter the secretary of state designate and Col. Logan signed for the United States.

At the last minute the clause in section A, reading: "In an amount not exceeding $350,000,000," referring to the total the United States will receive in satisfaction of its claims against Germany, was stricken out.

After the ceremony of signing had been concluded, Premier Herriot addressed the conference, then Ambassador Kellogg and the French premier went into a long conference.

Franco-American relations, including the moot question of the French war debt, were considered by the premier and the next secretary of state.

"There have been three great events of recent years," Ambassador Kellogg told the conference. "The first was the Dawes report; the second, the London conference; and the third, the present Paris agreement. It will mark the beginning of a new era for Europe which will have a reflex action on all the nations of the world."

"I affirm my confidence in the Dawes plan," Ambassador Kellogg continued. "It is based on solid business principles. I assure you the American people are keenly interested in its success."

As the protocol defining America's share in the proceeds of the Dawes plan left the hands of the experts committee late last night, it provided the following payments in settlement of costs of the American army of occupation and awards of mixed claims commission.

First—Fifty five million gold marks or $13,750,000 annually until the costs of the American army of occupation ($240,000,000) shall have been paid. These payments will be a first charge on the cash available under the Dawes plan after the charges of the German external loan of 1924 and the costs of the reparations commission; the inter-allied Rhineland high commission; the military control commission and the Danube commission have been deducted.

Second—Two and a quarter per cent of all the receipts from Germany, via the Dawes plan in settlement of claims for war damage.

The United States agrees to waive its claims under the army costs Wadsworth agreement. If the total sum paid in any year under the first clause falls below $55,000,000 gold marks the balance will be carried over to the following year, with interest at 4 1/2 per cent.

The provisions for distribution of annuities received under the Dawes plan may not be altered without the United States consent.

The United States is recognized as having a 2 1/4 interest in that part of the annuities which may be distributed in the issuance of railway or other bonds under the experts plan or in the sale of such bonds.

AUTO DAMAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McGuinn of Bowersville, escaped injury in an automobile wreck on the Washington C. H. Pike Sunday night. The McGuinn machine was badly damaged in the head-on crash with another car driven by a Columbus party.

McGuinn has instituted suit for damages against the Columbus man. It is said that when officers searched for them after the accident, the Columbus people could not be found.

DOG LICENSE SALE IS BELOW NORMAL

Sale of dog licenses at the County Auditor's office is proceeding smoothly, but the total sold by Tuesday was four hundred less than at the same time last year.

Nearly 1,400 dogs of the total canine population of the city have been already licensed and a rush is predicted during the last few days that will increase the number to nearly 3,300 the number sold in 1924.

January 20 is the dead line with no time extension, and authorities expect to round up the delinquents after that date.

Licenses for male dogs may be purchased for $1 while female dog licenses come $2 higher.

A special invitation is being extended by Xenia Aerle, Fraternal Order of Eagles to women to attend the address of Judge Thomas O'Donnell, Kansas City, Mo., at the Eagles Hall, Thursday night.

The appearance of Judge O'Donnell will be before an open meeting. The speaker will talk on a topic of civic interest and representatives of organizations, business houses and firms are invited to hear his address.

At the same time, plans were made for the national conference of the congress, which will be held in Austin, Tex., late in April.

RECALL GRAND JURY TO CONSIDER CASE OF WIFE MURDERER

Improvement In Condition Of Forest Kennedy
Prompts Action

The Grand Jury was recalled Wednesday by Prosecuting Attorney J. Carl Marshall to conduct an investigation in the case of Forest Kennedy, Cedarville, wife-slayer, and will convene in Common Pleas Court Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

The initial move by the prosecutor to bring Kennedy to justice is thought to be convincing proof that Kennedy will live to face a murder charge instead of dying from his self-inflicted wound as was first thought certain.

No affidavit naming the charge against Kennedy will be made out, according to Prosecutor Marshall but evidence in the case will simply be produced and the Grand Jury left to determine the degree of the charge.

A marked improvement has been noticed in Kennedy's condition since an attack of pneumonia abated and the gun wound above his heart is slowly healing. He was also able to rest upon his back Tuesday night for the first time since the shooting.

County authorities declared Wednesday that Kennedy may be taken to the County Jail either Friday or Saturday if his condition permits. A guard is still being maintained at the home in Cedarville.

Kennedy shot his wife in a fit of jealousy Saturday morning, January 3, at their home on Miller Street, Cedarville, and then turned the pistol upon himself. The woman died the following day.

ATLAS HOTEL SOLD TO SPRINGFIELD WOMAN WEDNESDAY

Sale of the Atlas Hotel, South Detroit Street, to Elizabeth B. Weinbrecht, Springfield, was announced Wednesday by Ralph Mangan, proprietor of the hotel for the past year.

Mr. Mangan declared he will continue active management of the hotel indefinitely to assist in acquainting the new owner with the business. The new owner will take possession February 1.

Mrs. Weinbrecht has had long experience in the hotel business as sole owner of the Roger Hotel, Springfield, for nineteen years and is considering remodeling and making improvements in the dining room of the Atlas when she assumes control, it is said.

Mr. Mangan purchased the hotel from John Mendenhall a year ago when the latter bought the New Manhattan Restaurant, North Detroit Street, after it had gone under receivership.

He has not made definite plans for entering into future business association.

Mr. Mangan formerly owned a farm on the Jamestown Pike, near Xenia, but sold it to the colored K. of P. Lodge, when he acquired the Atlas Hotel.

Money involved in the deal was not mentioned in the transaction.

UNDERWOOD ACT AGAIN ADOPTED BY SENATE VOTE

Voted On Second Time
After Unusual Imbroglia

Washington, D. C., Jan. 14.—The Senate this afternoon again adopted the Underwood Muscle Shoals Bill.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Muscle Shoals legislation was ensnared in another parliamentary imbroglia in the senate today.

After a whirlwind of balloting, accomplishing no final results, the senate had before it again the Underwood Muscle Shoals bill, previously rejected by a 13 majority. This unusual situation was brought about by a legislative tangle almost unprecedented in recent years in the upper chamber.

First the senate substituted, 48 to 37, the Underwood bill for the Norris government ownership plan. This was accomplished by administration senators going to the Underwood ranks.

Then, deserting the Underwood bill, administration supporters joined with progressives and a handful of Democrats to kill the Underwood measure by substituting for it the Jones commission plan. The vote was 46 to 33.

Senator Curtis of Kansas, Republican leader, warned his followers not to desert the Underwood bill, saying such action would provoke Democrats into swinging strength to the Norris plan, introduced in modified form as a substitute for the Jones bill.

This is exactly what happened when the showdown came between the Norris and Jones proposals. Underwood Democrats switched to the Norris plan and it replaced the Jones bill by one vote, 40 to 39.

Encouraged by the rapid shifting of sentiment, Senator Underwood, Democrat of Alabama, revived his bill and that was pending for a vote today.

Thus, the senate, in its balloting went completely around a circle, passing bills that it previously rejected and found itself today in exactly the same position it was last week when the Underwood substitute was adopted.

PAID POLICYHOLDERS AND BENEFICIARIES SINCE ORGANIZATION
OVER $10,500,000.00

AND YOU DON'T HAVE TO DIE TO BENEFIT

In fact, there are six distinct provisions made under the terms of this policy where the insured, under the public conveyance clause, can collect $2500.00 while alive and we know you will admit that your accident will be much easier to bear if you are assured you have $2500.00 coming to you.

There are also six provisions made under the privately owned vehicle or motor driven car clause that will pay you $2,000.00 in case of an accident, and while you may not enjoy the money to the fullest extent, still this sum will go a long way toward rent and the necessities of life while you are recuperating. Drivers of all trucks and wagons are included in this clause.

Then, too, the Gazette and Republican policy pays you $10.00 per week for 15 weeks in case you meet with an accident that does not entitle you to the major payments provided in the policy.

The Gazette and Republican policy is available to members of the family between the ages of 10 and 70. Insure the whole family—today.

MYSTERIES OF TELEPHONE EXPLAINED TO VISITORS

Public officials, bank officers and business men of the city were guests of the Ohio Bell Telephone Company, Monday, when it received on the first day of "Visiting Week"

The Xenia Bell Telephone Exchange played host to Xenians Monday, the first day of Visiting Week being observed at the exchange, and the intricate mechanism of the telephone process was explained to a constant stream of visitors.

H. W. Cleaver, commercial manager of the Xenia exchange, received the visitors, who were conducted over the exchange by Miss Stella Tuhey, chief operator and told of the operation of the switchboard and other departments of the headquarters.

The work of the "hello" girls was an interesting feature to the visitors and their management of the calls carefully explained by Miss Tuhey and Mr. Cleaver. Problems that confront the owner of the "voice with the smile" were made clear to the visitors, which is one of the benefits to subscribers to be derived from Visitors' Week, it is hoped by telephone officials.

The Xenia exchange takes care of 2,500 city subscribers and 620 rural subscribers, thirteen thousand calls per day are handled at the Xenia exchange and 300 toll calls.

Six hundred miles of wire are placed in the underground cables of the company and the aerial cables consist of 2010 miles of wire. The average number of calls handled by the Xenia exchange each hour is 225. The Xenia switchboard contains forty-six miles of wire and 184,845 soldered joints.

The compartment adjoining the switchboard, the different parts that go to make up a telephone, were exhibited by the company and demonstrated by Charles Sroog, vice chief of the Xenia exchange.

Twenty-two operators are employed at the Xenia exchange. They are the Misses Rachel Dice, Frances Farrell, clerk; Edith Jackson, Gladys Jenks, Cleo Jones, Margaret Kennedy, Lola Moorman, Louise Negus, Ruth Negus Thelma Peck, Irene Robinson, Mary Shumaker, Grace Simbro, Lois Simson, Mildred Sutton, Alma Swindler, Evelyn Weddle, Mrs. Lelah Highley, and Miss Lorena Mansfield.

THE BEST NONE TOO GOOD

"After many years of stomach suffering I have at last found a medicine for that trouble. Eat believe me it was a timely find. I couldn't have lasted a great while longer. My stomach would bloat with gas like a barrel and the colics got to be awful. Medicine didn't help much until I got hold of Man's Wonderful Remedy, which did the trick. I am telling everyone about it." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Sayre & Hemphill, and druggists everywhere. adv

THE TELEPHONE

This is an age when scientific and mechanical wonders crowd each other so swiftly in sequence that the bewildered layman, adopting a safety policy, accepts all new inventions without questioning or explanation, in order to keep up with the times.

When Alexander Graham Bell perfected the contrivance to carry the human voice by wire, it was recognized as a remarkable invention. Time however, during which the telephone became both general and standard, convinced the public of the great commercial and social asset that had thus been brought into being. The telephone is now so much a part of our domestic, industrial and commercial life that activities would almost come to a halt if its advantages were to be suddenly removed.

Yet so many of us are bewildered now about the process of radio, that few give attention to the principles of the telephone, and few indeed, can explain them. An opportunity for an inside view of the operation of the telephone exchange is being afforded now by The Ohio Bell Telephone Company.

This is visitors' week, when officials are giving a courteous reception to guests and explaining away the mysteries that cloud the telephone exchange. A trip to the exchange therefore is both instructive and educational, and will answer many questions that come to the mind when service is not punctual.

H. W. Cleaver, commercial manager in the Xenia area for this company, is in charge of the visiting program at the local exchange. Every courteous, Mr. Cleaver is now offering to Xenians a show of compelling interest—a look behind the scenes at the exchange.

He hopes that the crowds that have already visited the exchange will be outnumbered by others that will make the inspection before the week is out, so that better relations between subscribers and the telephone company will have blossomed.

AND WHERE LIES PERDITION?

The Rev. Mr. Showers, who addressed members of the Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon Tuesday, is an optimist of the right sort.

Instead of sitting down and brooding about the effect of present crime conditions, and the criminal tendencies that newspaper accounts make us believe are sweeping the country, the minister looks beyond these present-day facts and finds a good result to come from them in the future.

He believes that these trying internal conditions will merely resolve themselves into a grinding stone, on which will be polished off a higher type of patriotism, a stronger and harder race and a greater America of the future.

The Rev. Mr. Showers is therefore an analyst, who finds some good in the evil of life and promises a fulfillment of that adage that "it is an ill wind that blows no one good." In these days when modern novelists of the intelligentsia type would have us think perdition lies around the corner, it is a consoling thing to hear the Rev. Mr. Showers' optimistic view of conditions.

BORN—A GRANDSON OF PRESIDENT TYLER

The announcement that a grandson to President Tyler has just been born is calculated to give rise to a sense of incredulity at first thought. John Tyler has been dead sixty-three years, but he lived to be 72 years of age. His two children were born long after he left the presidency, one when he was 68 years old, the other when he was 70. The son, Dr. Lyon G. Harding, now is 71, and to him is born the grandson of the President.

John Tyler was the last of the presidents to represent Virginia, which gave so generous a share of the early executives, although two others, Taylor and Wilson, were natives of that state. The Tylers were and always have been typical of Virginia and retained their identification with the state. The youngest Tyler was born on the old Sherwood Forest estate, where his father, his grandfather and his great-grandfather were born, and which is still the seat of the Tyler family. His mother, thirty-five years younger than Dr. Tyler, was the daughter of Edmund Ruffin, who fired the first shot on Ft. Sumter thus beginning the hostilities of the Civil War. Edmund Ruffin was identified conspicuously with the Southern cause, and when it was lost he committed suicide rather than submit to the victors. If this boy should live to be 75 years old, President Tyler who was born in 1790 still would be represented by a grandson in the year 2000.—Kansas City Star.

THE MOTHER TELLS HER STORY
TO THE CHILDREN

When first I met your father, it was at a wedding, dear,
And he wore a high white collar which stretched right up to his ears;
He was thin and short and nervous,
And his dress coat didn't fit.
And I didn't like the way he dressed
his hair a little bit;
It was parted in the middle and it
lopped across his brow,
And I never dreamed that evening I'd
be married to him now.

I knew a dozen fellows who were
handsomer than he,
And all of them were richer, and they
thought a lot of me;
And they bought me flowers and candy every time they came to call.
So this meeting with your father
didn't mean much after all;
And besides his ways annoyed me
I'd have told him if I dared,
That I didn't like his manner and the
vulgar way he stared.

Well, next Sunday after dinner he came up to call on me
And stayed so long that Grandma
then invited him for tea;
After that he came so often that
your Grandpa used to say:
"That skinny gawk is driving all the
healthy stock away!"
But somehow I'd grown to like him
and I marvelled that I could,
For he never tried to kiss me—though
I often wished he would.

Now that's all there is to tell you—
by next June I was his bride,
But before that I had made him part

his hair upon the side,
And I'd made him change his collars,
and I'd slicked him up a lot,
For I taught him what he should do,
and the things which he should not.
But now don't tell I've told you
—that's the way I met your dad.
Would I do the same thing over?
Well—he hasn't been so bad!

THE ECONOMICAL "HAMBURG STEAK"
TOMORROW'S MENU

Breakfast
Stewed Dried Peaches Cereal
Poached Eggs Toast Coffee
Luncheon
Fried Left-Over Cereal Maple Syrup
Jelly Wholewheat Bread Cocoa
Dinner
Cream of Spinach Soup
Macaroni-Hamburg Dish Cold Slaw
Steamed Fruit Pudding with Hard Sauce

I believe that "Hamburg Steak" has kept down more food budgets than any other meat dish. Not because this chopped beef is necessarily cheap per pound. But because the housewife can buy it in small quantities. Every saving woman knows that the three great methods of keeping down with a pinch of salt and pepper, add a sprinkling of raw chopped onion, four peeled and minced onions, one can of tomatoes, one-half cup of grated or finely chopped mild American cheese and salt and pepper. Sprinkle a little of the raw chopped meat over the layer of cooked macaroni; season a baking dish. The other ingredients are: One pound of hamburger steak, buy it in small amounts—only a food expenses are: 1. Pay cash for everything; 2. When you buy meat pound or two at a time (it's the big costs that cost) 3. Use meat substitutes often in place of meat—that is, cheese, eggs, milk, baked beans and other protein foods.

But if we are to use Hamburg Steak frequently, we should know how to serve it in many ways, to avoid monotony. Here are a few of the most delicious:

Baked Macaroni-Hamburg Dish: (This is a little one-dish dinner in itself. All you'd need, to make it a well-rounded meal, are a salad and a fruit dessert.) Boil one-half pound of either spaghetti or macaroni in salted drain it and put a portion of it into water to cover, and when tender then a layer of the canned tomatoes and some grated cheese. Repeat these layers till all your ingredients are used. Cover all with buttered crumbs and bake in a moderate oven for 40 minutes. Serve at once.

Hamburg Italian Style: The ingredients are one and one-half pound of chopped beef, three peeled and minced onions, one green sweet pepper previously par-boiled with seeds removed, two tablespoons of beef drippings, a few drops of Worcester Sauce two tablespoons of tomato catsup, salt, pepper. Fry the onions and chopped pepper in the drippings and

THE GOOD OF PRAYER

Somehow I wouldn't like to trust a man who didn't pray at some time or other.

This doesn't mean that he would have to believe as I do in regard to God or religion or any special form of prayer.

We think in a language. Our brains are wonderful organs of great possible power.

But behind the brain is the thought of the heart. And it is this thought that shapes our spiritual strength.

You grow physically as you take care of your body, study its different reactions and obey its just calls. William Muddon, the great physical trainer of men, once said that it was surprising how quickly the human body responded to a little kindness. And so it is marvelous how the spiritual life of a man is awakened and enlarged by just a little spiritual encouragement.

Prayer is the language of the heart and soul. Our lips may utter this language in words. But behind the words is the life itself—that abundant life that comes to every man or woman who seeks it in "sincerity and truth."

The good of prayer is that it makes you good. It cleans out the inner life, which is the real life. It calms the physical nature and blots out selfishness and self-conceit.

When a great man or woman comes pray. The mere words they utter matter little. For you see God alone is the interpreter. And He doesn't care about rhetoric.

One of the loveliest characters I have ever known was that of a real estate man whose smile brought greater streams of sunshine into his office and who daily kissed his junior partner—his own son—before passing into his own office where he always prayed before the business day began.

This man was one whom I always loved to hear pray in public for he lived his prayers.

ST. BRIGIDS HIGH NOW REPRESENTED WITH COURT TEAM

After a season's absence from the court St. Brigid High School will have a basketball team. The team will play mostly road ball and the first game will take place on Friday night at Springfield when it meets its old time rival, St. Raphael.

The locals are being primed and groomed for the season by Laurence Rachford, former coach of the Meteors and Cadets. Rachford turned out winning combinations with these teams so no doubt he can do the same with the saints. They have had three workouts, hardly enough to get the stiffness worked out, yet all are practically lads with plenty of experience. Donovan, Sayre, Graham, Hicks, W. Rachford, Cain, McCormick, Langan, Kileen and Kelbie will form the squad. They will be rather light for a high school five but expect to make themselves heard from before the season is over.

St. Raphael will have several advantages over the locals. The one and most important is that they have already played and won three games beating the Alumni, Knights of Columbus and Urbana High. They will also have a weight advantage and more practice than the local five. Naturally they are favored to cop but the dope bucket may be upset. The last time they met the local boys they gave them a terrific lacing and word from their camp indicates that they are going to repeat. The West Street bunch thinks a bit different about the matter and says that they are going to bring home the bacon.

CENTRAL TOSSERS INVADE FOREIGN FIELDS THIS WEEK

Central High School will invade foreign fields Friday and Saturday nights for the first time this year, when Greenfield and Urbana are met on successive days on a week and barnstorming trip.

Following the neat win from Bradford last week, Coach John Ballantyne's lads are practicing harder than ever to make the coming trip a success.

Greenfield has always held a jinx over Xenia in basketball and has always come out of the game on the long end of the score despite numerous close calls. On the other hand Xenia was always successful in the gridiron sport until the Green eleven broke the jinx during the past season, proving conclusively that a jinx can be broken.

With this in mind, Central entertains hopes of turning the tables on its traditional rivals Friday evening, and of ending up the trip with a win over Urbana, which team it has not defeated for several years.

CHURCH COURT LOOP ORGANIZED WITH 10 TEAMS REPRESENTED

The City Church Basketball League was formally organized at a meeting in the basement of the Reformed Church Tuesday night with ten church teams composing the loop.

John Ballantyne, athletic director of Central High School, was elected general manager of the circuit and will arrange a schedule of games for the season.

The ten-team loop is composed of the following church teams: First United Presbyterian, Second United Presbyterian, Reformed, Episcopal, First Presbyterian, Friends, St. Brigid, Trinity Methodist Episcopal, First Methodist Episcopal and the O. S. and S. O. Home.

Games will be played at the Central High School gymnasium on Monday and Wednesday nights of each week beginning next Monday. The use of the gym for two nights each week was granted by the Board of Education.

Each church must furnish its own floor equipment and each member of the various teams is required to attend Sunday School class at his church the Sunday preceding the games to be eligible for participation. J. J. Stout announced his donation of a basketball to the league for the games and the Rev. F. W. Stanton, pastor of the First M. E. Church, donated a ball for practice.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Dr. F. W. Stanton of the First M. E. Church gave an interesting talk to the students of Central High School at an assembly in the Jean B. Elwell Auditorium Tuesday afternoon on the subject of "Getting a Start in Life."

Dr. Stanton said that Napoleon, Caesar and several others were all very young when they made their reputations and that it pays to get an early start in life. Dr. Stanton said that everyone is born with a destination and to be sure to choose a life work before leaving high school. He also named the three greatest points to follow and develop as Physical, Moral and Spiritual. Dr. Stanton pointed out that over half of the soldiers in the Civil War were under 22 years of age. The High School Choir sang several numbers and Dr. Stanton pronounced the benediction and the pupils returned to their sixth period classes.

GIRLS' TEAMS PLAY

Yellow Springs will be invaded by the girls' team of Urbana Junior College Thursday night which plays Coach Prugh's formidable aggregation of Antioch co-eds. The games will start at 8:15.

This will be the first game for the Antioch girls during the second part of B division.

YELLOW SPRINGS

The Antioch basketball team of the "B" Division was scheduled to play Denison University team Saturday evening in Granville but on account of the heating plant at Denison being out of order the game was played on the Antioch floor. The score was 44 to 21 in favor of Denison.

Antioch is broadcasting some splendid programs. The concert Thursday evening by the artists from The Conservatory of Music of Wittenberg College, Springfield, was especially good. The Vesper services Sunday evening and the address by Rev. On Wednesday evening the first lesson in Esperanto under the direction of Dr. Bartlett will be given over the radio. The orchestra from the Trinity Methodist Sunday School of Xenia will also broadcast from Antioch that evening.

The Library Club met Monday afternoon with Mrs. A. E. Morgan. This was the first meeting of the year. New officers were elected for this year and dues collected.

CLEAN KIDNEYS BY DRINKING LOTS OF WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers or Back Hurts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts can not injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean. It is often avoiding serious kidney disorders. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

XENIA IS IN BETTER SHAPE FINANCIALLY THAN EVER SAYS ZELL

"Xenia is in better shape, financially speaking, than ever before," according to T. H. Zell, city auditor, "and is on better than a pay-as-you-go basis."

At the close of the business in 1924, the general outstanding debt of the city of Xenia was only $47,908.12, lower than ever before, he says.

The total bonded debt of the city at the close of the past year, was $731,500 which was divided into three classes, general debt of $105,200, the special assessment debt of $295,800 and the utility or water works debt of $330,500.

As no direct taxes are levied for the special assessment or the utility debt, in reality the only debt the city faced at the end of the year was the general debt item of $105,200, and when it is taken into consideration that the interest and sinking fund trustees had holdings in securities and cash totaling $57,291.88 at the close of 1924 business, the actual debt is but $47,908.12.

The general bonded indebtedness of the city on January 1, 1924 was $226,900, the utility debt was $344,000 and the special assessment or street improvement debt was $338,650. The water works department earns enough money each succeeding year to gradually pay off its debt, both interest and principal, at the rate of $13,500 each year, in principal.

Xenia's sinking fund, the barometer of the city's sound financial standing, had a cash surplus of $4,107.10 on hand at the close of 1924 business. Two refunding bonds, issued twenty years ago, matured in October 1924. One bond was for $189,200 and the other $16,000. These bonds together with serial portions of other bonds fell due during the year and were paid off by the sinking fund trustees.

The sinking fund trustees are mainly responsible for Xenia's fine financial standing, and the operating expenses of the city are in such condition that it has not been necessary to draw money from the sinking funds' portion of the city tax rate for operating purposes.

The above figures will be part of the city auditor's annual report to the City Commission when his formal document is completed.

CARELESSNESS IS "DEMON GERM" DALY TELLS KIWANIAN

The demon germ "Carelessness" causes more deaths than typhoid or smallpox, declared J. E. Daly, assistant trainmaster of the Cincinnati Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad in a talk on "Safety First" before the Xenia Kiwanis Club, Tuesday evening at the Elks Club.

Mr. Daly explained the work of the forty-eight safety committees on each division of the Pennsylvania system. The committees are composed of the superintendent of the division, who serves as chairman; staff officers, passenger agent, brakemen, trackmen, track superintendent, shop foremen, shop mechanics and shop laborers. There is a safety inspector for each division.

During a period of four months, forty people disregarded the watchman's signal at the Cincinnati Division, Mr. Daly said. He told of the "Careful Cross Campaign" staged by the railroad company from June through September, which is largely carried on through advertising. Mr. Daly is secretary of the safety committee for the Cincinnati Division.

He said during four months in 1923 that 120 people were killed on the Pennsylvania System and during the same period in 1924, only ninety met their death. There was a decrease of all accidents during the last year, according to the speaker.

"The best safety device in the world is the man himself," Mr. Daly declared, bringing out that drivers should be educated to use precaution at railroad crossings.

Mr. Daly's talk followed the club dinner and business meeting. Ralph M. Neeld was awarded the attendance prize of the club.

MASS CELEBRATED FOR DEAD PRELATE

The Rev. David Powers, pastor of St. Brigid's Catholic Church, celebrated High Mass Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock in memory of Archbishop Henry Moeller, of Cincinnati, who was buried in Cincinnati Tuesday following the solemn funeral service of the Catholic Church.

Many of the congregation of St. Brigid's attended the service Wednesday morning. The Rev. Father Powers attended the funeral services Tuesday and the Rev. Albert A. Burke, pastor of Corpus Christi Church, Dayton, and former pastor here, was a cross bearer among the priests assisting Patrick Cardinal Hayes in the celebration of the funeral mass.

St. Brigid's Parochial school was closed Tuesday because of the funeral of the church official.

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but a moment to prepare, and saves you about $2.

You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine is famous for this purpose.

Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup. To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, good and very pleasant—children take it eagerly.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. BRINGING UP FATHER

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

PATRICIA CLEVE protests to her husband, ANDREW CLEVE, a young lawyer, that he has made her a tamer of other women's husbands, forcing her to do so much entertaining of his clients that he sacrifices her to his business. She goes on a visit to her sister,

CAROL WILLOUGHBY, who, with her husband, KEITH WILLOUGHBY, lives in a country club colony near Chicago. But Keith, like Andrew, seeks to use Patricia's charm as an asset, trying to persuade her to intercede in his behalf with

GREGORY HEWITT, a famous financier, whom she has met through Andrew. Patricia is disturbed by Keith's attentions to ISOBEL DRAKE, the country club widow. Finding that she can come between them by yielding to Keith's urging that she invite Hewitt to dinner, she does so, reluctantly, as Hewitt has avowed his love for her. She plans to return home, but receives word from Andrew that he is going abroad at once.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT

XXXIV—RAILROADS—AND LOVE!

S TILL in her reckless mood when she met Gregory Hewitt, Patricia was not at all disturbed to find Isobel Drake lunching at an adjoining table.

VIOLET DARE

Isobel spoke most affably, with her really charming smile, that had won more than one captive to her train. "There's the reason for my phoning you yesterday," Patricia told Hewitt. "The blonde shren at the next table is after my brother-in-law's scalp, and my sister simply won't realize it. He was awfully eager to have you come to the house, because he wanted to see if he couldn't somehow do business with you on that railroad question—and because I knew you and could back in reflected glory, I managed to snatch him from her clutches. But I've lost out now; they're playing golf together this afternoon."

"Want to put a stop to that?" asked Hewitt lazily, his amused eyes on her face.

"I'd love to," Patricia answered promptly. "I'd do most anything to make Keith see how lovely his own wife is and how he's being snared."

"All right. Suppose—just suppose—I decide to build that railroad at once. And suppose that I insist that your brother-in-law must go out there with me, and that his wife must go along, because I'd like to have you go. How's that? We'll all have a delightful jaunt west, stopping to see about the road and then going on to my place on the Pacific Coast. What do you say?" "Do you mean that really and truly you'll build that railroad now if I say so?" He nodded. "Can you do it, just offhand like that?" she insisted, her eyes big with wonder. "Why, I had no idea that you were such an influential maa as all that!" He laughed delightedly.

"Wait and see the things I can show you, child," he told her. "Now, tell me where I can get in touch with this brother-in-law of yours in time to break off the golf engagement; at his office? All right. I'll have him come to see me this afternoon, and you march your lively self straight out and buy riding habits and all that sort of thing, for we'll be leaving in a few days."

Patricia and he were just leaving

when Isobel joined them, the tall, blonde young man who had been her host at luncheon at her side.

"I suppose this is one of the family affairs that you mix into, dear?" she murmured to Patricia, with a malicious little smile. She was guilelessly sweet to Hewitt, lifting limpid eyes to him. "I've wanted so much to meet you, Mr. Hewitt," she exclaimed, slurring her words softly together. "But somehow it just didn't seem to be managed yesterday out at the club—though I surely don't blame Mrs. Cleve for wanting to keep you to herself."

Patricia clenched one small hand furiously, longing to retaliate, but Hewitt was doing that for her.

"We had a delightful time; sorry you weren't one of us," he was saying smoothly. "Knowing the New York branch of the family, of course I wanted to meet the Chicago members, too, so it was a reunion of a sort."

"I see. Well, I must rush away; Keith's promised to give me a lesson in putting this afternoon," with a sidelong glance at Patricia as she trailed away.

Hewitt smiled. "She's not going to get the sort of lesson she expects," he commented quietly. "Now, are you dining at home? I'd like to call you later and let you have my report on the meeting between your estimable brother-in-law and me."

Hewitt scalded in the lobby for Patricia.

"I don't know what the plans are, but I'll surely be at home at six," she promised him.

She spent the afternoon hurrying about, buying linen and tweed riding habits, boots, hats, soft, tailored shirts of heavy silk, gaudily striped ties, gauntlets; she wanted to be so busy that she would not think of Andy.

But at twilight, as the train wound its way between the autumn-tinted fields, and she smelled the smoke of burning leaves and watched an early moon rise, it was impossible to escape from her own heartache. She could not lash herself into a fury against Andrew now; her anger had gone, and left only a strange sense of emptiness.

She was glad to leave the train and climb into a motor bus, glad to be swept past the brightly lighted clubhouse and on toward her sister's house, to run up to the nursery and catch a glimpse of the rosy-cheeked infant, who was sitting drowsily on his mother's knee while she fed him the last of his supper, and to hear Carol's excited tale of how Hewitt had sent for Keith, and was going to build the railroad after all—wasn't that simply wonderful?

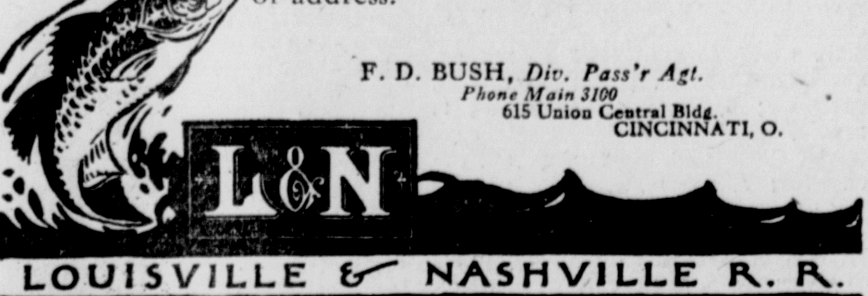

"It's been worth what I've done, I suppose," Patricia told herself, as she dressed for dinner. "And it would be nice to be able always to have so much power—but what's a railroad in my life, when Andy's gone off to England without me!"
